FBC ALBANEWS

Dr. Kelly Burton pastor

Welcome new members: Mark, Cherie, and Jeremy Beatty. Please say hello to the Beatty's.

Women's Ministry Coordinator! It brings me great joy to announce that after much prayer, Angel Wallace has asked to serve the women of FBCA in the role of Women's Ministry Coordinator. Angel is the wife of Daymon Wallace Jr. and has been a member of FBCA for one year. I look forward to working with Angel and Daymon Jr. Please express your thanks to Angel and let her know you will pray for her. She has some great ideas for the ladies in 2022!

Community-Based Ministry: Burdened and convicted for our city, I introduced Community-Base Ministry to the church on Sunday, October 17. Since that introduction I have met with the mayor of Alba and heard his ideas. I asked him one simple question, What are the biggest needs of our city that a church like ours might meet? Or, How can our church express the love of Christ to our community/city? You might be surprised at his answers. Next on the agenda is to meet with Alba City Council members to ask the same question. Stay tuned for the details of these conversations and start praying about how you might be involved. On Saturday morning, October 23, I delivered over $500 to the Alba Café. I expressed to the owner that our church wants to show the love of Christ by buying meals for her customers. Moreover, every Trunk or Treater has received a survey in their bag for their parents to fill out and fill us in on how we can show love to families around us.

Our first intentional effort at Community-Based Ministry! I look forward to leading you into the Alba community to bless every person for the glory of Christ.

Happy Thanksgiving! Pastor Kelly and Karen Burton, and Camden!

Zachary Littleton

youth minister

Dear FBCA Family,

We are all looking forward to Thanksgiving and I hope that you are too. At the beginning of this month, we will be attending our annual Youth Fall Retreat along with New Hope Baptist Church and Hainesville Baptist Church. Together, we will worship in music, discussion, reading, studying, and reflecting on God's call on our lives. I ask that you pray for our youth and the other church's youth to listen well and respond to what they hear.

In the youth department, we are still undergoing a long study of Mark on Wednesdays. We are taking the necessary time to address all of what Mark wrote in his gospel and to understand why he wrote it. As odd as it may seem, we will be in chapter 12 for the remainder of the year. There is just too much that cannot go undiscussed in chapter 12 for us to rush through it. If you have time, try reading the Gospel of Mark before the end of the year, or at least chapter 12 and see what I mean. Mark has an excellent perspective on the story of Jesus and chapter 12 gives us many examples of the wisdom of Jesus' encounters with his opponents.

On Sunday mornings, we are nearing the end of our study in Romans. We have been searching throughout the letter to understand what we should think and believe about our faith as well as now, how to live it out in a world set against Christ. This month, we will be focusing on Romans 14 and discussing how Christians live out our faith with other Christians.

Thank you, Zachary Littleton
